

August 27, 2013

PerkinElmer Opens Center for Innovation in Hamburg, Germany

WHAT: PerkinElmer, Inc., a global leader focused on improving the health and safety of people and the environment, today announced the opening of a new Center For Innovation in Hamburg, Germany. The facility is a state-of-the-art laboratory space where PerkinElmer engineers, scientists and customers can interact and share insights for the life sciences market. The R&D teams working at the facility will focus on the development of new products and applications primarily related to cellular and detection imaging technologies.

WHERE: PerkinElmer
Schnackenburgalle 114 22525 Hamburg, Germany

WHEN: September 12, 2013 at 10am

During this time, visitors can participate in guided tours of the facility as well as listen to distinguished speakers:

- Jim Corbett, PerkinElmer, President, Diagnostics/Life Sciences & Technology
- Carsten Claussen, European Screening Port
- Professor Rune Linding, Cellular Signal Integration Group, Technical University of Denmark
- Spensor Shorte, Institute Pasteur
- Renate Schnitzer, Boehringer Ingelheim

Click here to learn more about the agenda and register for the event.

About PerkinElmer, Inc.

PerkinElmer, Inc. is a global leader focused on improving the health and safety of people and the environment. The company reported revenue of approximately $2.1 billion in 2012, has about 7,500 employees serving customers in more than 150 countries, and is a component of the S&P 500 Index. Additional information is available through 1-877-PKI-NYSE[®], or at www.perkinelmer.com.

#

Media Contact:

Sarah Salbu
Public Relations Specialist
Phone: 781-663-5782[®]
Email: sarah.salbu@perkinelmer.com